

Greg Butler

National Special Projects Lead

Greg.Butler@ticrail.com.au

Background

Greg delivers recognised training across Australia and overseas, including the design and rollout of national programs for clients such as ARISO and ARTC.

This work allows him to share skills across borders and strengthen knowledge within the rail industry. He supports organisational culture change by building staff capability, lifting training quality and improving workplace standards in line with national requirements and regulations.

With more than 15 years in Government and Rail Operations, he has developed strong knowledge of state systems, rail operations, network rules, compliance and training. He also carries out Work on Track auditing and compliance duties that reduce Government liability while improving safety under Rail Safety National Law 2012.

These duties include investigations, reporting, training and auditing for contractors and staff working within the rail industry. Greg currently acts as a senior Rail Training Specialist at TICRail.

Bringing over 10 years' experience in adult education across multiple organisations, Greg offers deep expertise in learning design, resource and training package development, RTO compliance, and the implementation and monitoring of quality systems, ensuring ongoing alignment with current ASQA requirements and the Standards for RTOs.
